JUNIOR PLAY "TRELAWNEY OF THE WELLS"

"SUNNY JIM" ANNOUNCED IN CHAPEL FRIDAY MORNING

Essay Prize and Scholarships to be Awarded

Senior prizes, undergraduate scholarships and graduate scholars and fellows will be announced in chapel on Friday morning, the morning on which the usual informal May-Day celebration will take place.

"Sunny Jim," the winner of the Mary Helen Ritchie Memorial Prize, must have the following qualities, as decided by President Thomas' meeting with the Senior class: "That she be a good student who shows interest in her work, but need not necessarily be in the upper half; that she possess the qualities of courage, cheerfulness, fair-mindedness, good sportmanship; that her influence be widely felt, and that she have the courage to live up to her own convictions and be respected by all."

She is chosen by a committee of the president, the deans, the secretary and registrar, the professor of English, the senior warden and the retiring presidents of the Self-Government, Undergraduate and Athletic Associations, guided by a secret ballot from the Senior class. This prize was won last year by Betty Weaver, president of the Athletic Association.

The George W. Childs Essay Prize, a gold watch, is awarded to a member of the Senior class for excellency in writing; this prize was won last year by D. Pitkin.

The Brook Hall Memorial Scholarship goes to the student with the highest average in the Junior class. This scholarship went to J. Flexner last year.

Memorial Scholarships Given

The two Sheelah Kilroy Memorial Scholarships, endowed by Dr. and Mrs. Paul Kilroy, parents of Banbah Kilroy, '23, go to the student making the highest record in second year English; and to the students with the best record in major English; they went last year to J. Flexner, '21, and K. Ward, '21.

The Charles S. Hinchman Memorial Scholarship, value $500, is awarded to a member of the Freshman, Sophomore, or Junior class on the basis of written work in her group subjects; E. Boswell, 1921's European Fellow, won this prize last year.

JANE BURGESS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF UNDERGRADUATE ASSOCIATION

Nominations and elections for officers of the Undergraduate Association were made last Monday. Jane Burgess, '22, was elected president, and Florence Martin, '23, vice-president.

"TRELAWNEY OF THE WELLS" GIVEN BY 1922 TO SENIORS

Phoebe Norcross Proves Charming Heroine. Octavia Howard Stars

Mid-Victorian customs and costumes lent amusement and picturesqueness to "Trelawney of the Wells," by Arthur Wing Pinero, given by 1922 last Friday and Saturday night, at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium. The Saturday performance was a repetition of the traditional Junior-Senior supper play held the night before.

The opening scene, with its hair sofa, red tablecloth, and wax wreath, created admirably the illusion of Victorian mediocrity, which was soon dispelled by capable and spirited acting. The bright colors of the ladies' great hooped dresses relieved the dull settings, and with the men's tailed coats and tall shiny hats led at once into the atmosphere of romance of the nineteenth century. The lighting effects were very successful throughout, and especially good in the fourth act, which showed the studio of the Pantheon Theatre flooded with bright morning sunlight.

Spirited Acting by Octavia Howard

The greatest material aid to the whole play was the make-up, which did much to interpret the characters. In this respect, as in all others, Sir William Gower was most admirable. Miss Howard's interpretation of the Vice Chancellor will stand as one of Bryn Mawr's greatest histrionic successes. The oddities of the irascible old snuff-taking gentleman were the most amusing part of the play, but he called forth pity as well as amusement. Whether Sir William was raging about the scarcity of "cheers" in the center of the stage or sleeping in one corner, he held the interest of the audience. His voice was well controlled, and even in its bluster could be heard distinctly.

Characters Possess Individuality

The cast, as a whole, was well chosen and of a higher general quality than last year in "Rosemary," when there was a tendency to rely too much on the principals. The characters, with definite personalities and individual gestures, and the by-play, so entertaining that at times it detracted from the long speeches, were excellent. In the first act cues might have been picked up more quickly to counteract the uneven quality of the lines. At the supper party, except for the picture made by Miss Norcross responding to her toast and by Miss Anderson's stammering acknowledgment, there was little to inspire good acting. But here the fault lay with the author rather than with the company. Dr. Savage is to be congratulated on being the coach of so successful a performance.

Miss Hobdy, as Tom Wrench, was one of the least humorous and most appealing characters, and was well suited to the part of the thoughtful and winsome young actor who could pun in his despair and think only of others in his success. His facial expressions and gestures were noticeably good throughout the play, while his voice was controlled and easy.

Miss Anderson, who for the third time on a Bryn Mawr stage appeared as the unhappy lover, managed the change from the awkward, self-conscious young man to the impetuous and self-possessed actor, and was markedly better in sustaining her acting and in living constantly up to her part than in "Rosemary" or "Rosalind." Arthur was so handsome and so appealing that the audience fell quite as much in love with him as Rose did.

Gadd's appearance alone was enough to call forth laughter, and he always lived up to his appearance. His acceptance of the part of the Demon of Discontent brought out some of his most furious and most effective acting, and whenever he was silent his "bosom friend" Colpoys was up to some mischief.

Miss Norcross Stars in Title Role

The sweet merryness of Rose was well brought out by Miss Norcross, whose acting seemed the most natural. One of the prettiest bits of the play was Miss Trelawney's response to the toast which gave an opportunity for a snatch of song, "Ever of Thee, I'm Fondly Dreaming." Her interpretation of the change in Rose's moods reached her audience, but left them, perhaps, with a wish that she had been more of a vixen in the second act. The first and third acts were her best.

Mrs. Gadd, née Avonia Bunn, was quite as lively and amusing as her husband. Miss Burgess seemed to enjoy every minute on the stage, and so made her audience enjoy it. Her spirited rendering of "I'm a robber, I'm a thief!" was one of the most delightful spots, and her whole scene with the curling tongs was natural enough to be even more than funny.

Miss Brush a Pleasing Contrast

Imogen Parrott, through whom Tom finally got his play staged, was a great and successful contrast to his unaffectedness. Miss Brush showed "Jenny" to be a sophisticated and determined young lady with a very good heart under it all. Miss Brush acted consistently, leaving her audience, like the Vice Chancellor, delighted.

1924 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN PRELIMINARY TRACK MEET

Raymonde Neel '22 Breaks Record for Throwing Baseball

Taking first place in the preliminary competition last Monday afternoon, 1924 won the first track meet held in two years, with a score of 31 points. 1922 breaking the record for the baseball throw in the first two places tied with 1921 for second place. K. Neel, '22, established the baseball throw at 189 feet 6 inches.

The 75-yard relay, with twenty persons to a team, a new event, was won by 1924, who also won the regular 100-yard relay. (There were an unusual number of ties in the races.) They established the time for the new relay at 2 minutes 52.5 seconds.

50-Yard Dash

First and second places—Tie—K. Stiles, '22, and M. Platt, '24—6.4-5 seconds.

Third place—Tie—E. Cecil, '21, and M. Palache, '24—7 seconds.

100-Yard Dash

First and second places—Tie—E. Cecil, '21, and M. Palache, '24—13.1-5 seconds.

Third place—Tie—K. Stiles, '22, R. Neel, '22, I. Beaudrias, '23, F. Knox, '23—13.2-5 seconds.

Running High Jump

First place—F. Martin, '23—4 feet 3 3/4 inches.

Second place—Tie—B. Bordon, '24, B. McRae, '24, Dillingham, '24—4 feet 3 inches.

TRADITIONAL CELEBRATION OF MAY DAY COMES FRIDAY

E. Taylor 1921's May Queen

The traditional May Day celebration at Bryn Mawr will be held on Friday. Following custom the Seniors, after singing to President Thomas in front of the Deanery, march to Rockefeller, singing "The Hunt Is Up." There from the tower they welcome the day, singing the Magdalen Hymn.

Elizabeth Taylor, president of the Senior class, on her way from the tower to the Senior breakfast in Rockefeller dining room, will be crowned Queen of the May by H. Rice, Sophomore president.

Dancing on the green and winding the May poles to the tune of the village band, will last until chapel time, when the winners of prizes and scholarships will be announced.

Pro Bono Only the Undergraduate

What a year! It has been a year of many tell—what various and countless tasks have this year fallen to its lot to accomplish. The adoption of college rings, the appointment of student monitors, the change in the Freshmen song for Lantern Night are only a few of the more obvious achievements. Bryn Mawr owes a great deal to the retiring president, under whose effective and able leadership the Undergraduate Association is once more a "live" organization, one of the most potent and valuable forces in college.

From Far Even in the season of Tokio Christian Association subscription cards, Dr. Tonomura is no more than a name to nine subscribing members out of ten, and at all other seasons

he sinks from the collegiate consciousness entirely. The sudden appearance not only of his name but of his most pronounced personality in a letter to his "sisters" of the Christian Association, is, therefore, a stimulating answer to much torpid curiosity. Dr. Tonomura's letter is interesting for all sorts of reasons. It gives that much discussed articulation about the outside world, for one thing, and while many people will read it for the eccentricity of its style, some will certainly feel the imperturbable courage of it the phenomenal cheerfulness of the writer in the face of a bad situation. It is his business-like statement, without sign of complaint or emotional appeal, that wins the sympathy. We can now sincerely hope that Bryn Mawr will continue her much appreciated

"deep and sympathetic helps" toward

Dr. Tonomura's Mission in this time of

"sad accident."

The Community Misleading statements

Center in Philadelphia papers have given the impression that the College has a control over the Bryn Mawr Community Center that is undesired by the people of the town. The College has no official connection with the Center however. The undergraduates are only temporary residents in Bryn Mawr, some of whom are able to give their time to teaching classes and serving the Center in other ways. At the annual meeting recently the point of view of the townspeople expressed only a more active interest than formerly. This is surely no more than an optimistic sign that the town is beginning to realize what the Center is and to appreciate it.

Then as Now The tall young oak is cut down for a May pole, and the frolic fry of the town prevent the rising of the sun, and with joy in their faces and bought in their hands they march before it to the place of erection.

"The May pole is up, Now give me the cup!" I'll drink to the garlands around it. But first unto those Whose hands did compose The glory of flowers that crown'd it." From "In a Pleasant Grove of New Fancie." 1657.

The Senior class has decided to break the old tradition and roll their hoops on May-Day owing to the interference of the new requirement of no hoops rolling.

DR. TONOMURA'S MISSION IN TOKIO BURNED DOWN LAST DECEMBER

Letter Tells of Destruction of Chapel and Dispensary

News of the catastrophe which has befallen Dr. Tonomura's Mission in Tokio, Japan, to which Bryn Mawr contributes yearly, was received last week in the following letter to the members of the Christian Association:

TOKIO, JAPAN,

Dear Sisters:

Many thanks for your deep and steadfast sympathetic helps for my works here. During last year, the attendants at our every meeting exceedingly increased. Every Sunday service had eighty members attended on average. The Mission Meetings at the several slums could preach to quite many people gathered. At the last Christmas, we received the converted nine people baptized at the evening and about 300 people came to the service. The members belonged to our mission have been greatly encouraged.

I am however very sorry to write to you of the sad accident that took place at P.M. 1:30 on the 27th of last December. The fire broke out of just front house of mine crossed the street. Unfortunately my house having been the leeward of the strong wind burnt down in seven minutes. At first, the building of the Chapel and dispensary seemed to be saved from fire, but the wind changed its direction and fire spread very rapidly to them. It has been burnt down in a short time. It had been built eight years ago through God's mercy and your deep sympathetic helps. It had been used very effectively as only a machine both for the spiritual and physical salvation. We could scarcely take a few furnitures from Chapel and my house.

I am however very much thankful to our Merciful God that He saved my wife with eight children from any hurt. We are now living in a rent house in suburbs where we can hold weekly prayer meetings and also can dispense and treat gratuitously to the poor. The Sunday morning service is held at a rent club near the old chapel. I am glad that I can still continue as usual at slums the several mission meetings.

Asks Help to Build New Chapel

As you can easily suppose, it being the present pressing need to build a new chapel and dispensary, I am busy every day. And as the prices are still kept very highly, at least 20,000 yen are needed for the new building. The old Chapel with dispensary having been insured against fire for 3,600, yen, 16,400 yen are to be collected from sympathisers for whom we are doing our best efforts. I am very earnestly expecting with prayer that the building will be given until next August. I should be very much appreciated your special helps at this time and your earnest prayers.

Hoping and praying the abundant blessings upon you and all sisters of the Christian Association, I am sincerely yours,

Y TONOMURA.

BUSINESS MEN INTERESTED IN COMMUNITY CENTER MANAGEMENT

Mr. T. W. Hammonds, of Bryn Mawr, was elected president of the Bryn Mawr Community Center Association to succeed Dean Smith, at the annual meeting held April 15, in the fire house. Miss Smith was re-elected as a member of the Executive Committee.

The business men of Bryn Mawr are taking a new and active interest in the Center, according to Miss Helen Barrett, '13, director, and their influence will make for its democratic management. Feeling at the meeting was brought out more strongly than ever before, that the Center belongs to the town, though the present officers do not stand for anything revolutionary in the attitude of the Association.

An exhibition of handwork done by classes at the Center was held at the same time, the first prize going to the work of the dressmaking class, and second to the boys' carpentry. The girls' basket-ball team, led by J. Gregg, '24, won first place in the demonstrations given.

WOMEN OF MANY COUNTRIES BAND TOGETHER IN LEAGUE FOR PEACE

Executive Secretary Emphasizes Co-operation to Prevent War

"In the next few weeks women are going to fight a hard battle for disarmament," said Miss Margaret B. Crook, executive secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, speaking in chapel on Monday.

"When the army and navy appropriation bills come up again in the Senate, a great delegation of women from all over this country can go to Washington and say that they do not want 88 1/2 per cent. of the country's revenue turned to war expenses. The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, co-operating with the women's World Disarmament Committee, and the National League for Women Voters is working to make America take the lead in peace."

"We believe," Miss Crook declared, "that the spirit of co-operation which won the war is at the base of society, and that it can be made the means to prevent war. We believe that the old theory of the inevitability of struggle is false. In twenty-nine countries women are taking this stand for peace under our organization."

Miss Crook is a graduate of London and Oxford Universities and was at one time a minister of the Octagon Chapel at Norwich, England.

ALUMNAE NOTES

Amy MacMaster, '15, has spent the last year and a half in Europe studying at the London School of Economics, and working in Vienna as director of the publicity work of the Friends Relief Mission in Austria. She will return to America in June.

JUNIOR PLAY PROVES SUCCESSFUL

even though at times in her enthusiasm she overacted.

Of the minor characters Miss Hay, as Mrs. Telfer, who was remarkably clever in getting across something of the tragedy in a very few lines, and Miss Fisher as Miss Trafalgar Gower, whose anxiety over her brother's ankles was most amusing, deserve first mention for sustained acting. Captain de Foenix and Clara, although the opportunity afforded by the part was slight, will be remembered for a lisp and Victorian mannerisms.

No praise of the play, which was one of the most amusing Bryn Mawr has seen, is complete without mention of the blustery O'Dwyer, Mrs. Mossop, the pompous Charles, and Mr. Ablett.

The long waits between the acts were enlivened by a group of old-fashioned singers in picture hats and pantalettes singing "Sweet Alice Ben Bolt," "Fiddle and I," and "Ever of Thee." The actors, too, did their part. Gadd and Colpoys, by their antics with the barrel organ, won twenty-three cents for the Students' Building.

Cast

This play had its premiere Thursday, January 29, 1890, at the Court Theatre, London. The first performance in the United States took place on November 23, 1890, at the Lyceum Theatre, New York.

DR. CECIL OF RICHMOND SPEAKS IN CHAPEL NEXT SUNDAY

Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Richmond, Va., Dr. Russell Cecil, father of E. Cecil, '21, will conduct the chapel service at 7:30 o'clock next Sunday evening. Dr. Cecil, a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, before his ordination studied at Edinburgh, and traveled extensively in the Orient. He is the author of several books, articles, and pamphlets, and was at one time moderator of the General Assembly.

MAGDALEN HYMN SUNG ON MAY 1 TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH

"Hymnus Eucharisticus," or the Magdalen Hymn, which is sung at Oxford on May Day morning, and is a Latin hymn, was written in Latin by Dr. Thomas Smith, Fellow of St. Mary's, Magdalen College, Oxford, in 1685. Miss Mary O'Sullivan, '07, head cataloguer, has translated the hymn into English.

"O God, Our Father, we worship Thee and give praise to Thee, who dost renew our bodies with food and our souls with heavenly grace."

"We adore Thee, O Jesus, the only-begotten Son, who didst not disdain to enter the prison of a maiden."

"Lifted high on the cross, Thou wast offered our sacrifice to God's justice: through Thee, our one Savior, the hope of life has come back to us."

"Ever do we bless Thee, O Eternal Spirit, through whose might Mary bore the God of little Children."

"O Triune God, O Best Author of man's salvation, with prayerful lips we praise this unfathomable mystery."

An account written in 1847, of the singing of the hymn at Oxford, describes it as follows: "The choristers assemble there (on the tower) in their white gowns, at a little before 5 o'clock in the morning, and as soon as the clock has struck, commence singing their matins. The beautiful bridge and all around the college are covered with spectators; indeed it is quite a little fair."

VOCATION FOR COLLEGE WOMEN TO BE DISCUSSED BY MRS. REED

Mrs. Anna Y. Reed, assistant to the general director of the United States Department of Labor, will speak on problems confronting the college woman in vocation, on Wednesday evening, May 4, in Taylor Hall. The lecture will be the last of the world citizenship course in modern social problems.

Dr. Scott, professor of mathematics, has knitted two dozen sweaters for Dr. Grenfell's mission. A box of eighty garments will be sent to Dr. Grenfell by the Sewing Committee this week.

The business world today offers increasing opportunities to educated women, but the educated woman too often finds that she is at a disadvantage because she knows so little of that business lore that young men seem to have absorbed during their up-growing. Now, however, if she is a "college graduate of high academic standing" she may overcome this handicap by taking an intensive training course that will not only give her the tool of secretarial training, but also an extremely interesting insight into the organization and management of business, its psychology, ethics, and language. There will be practice work in offices, and an imposing array of lecturers will give talks and assigned work. The advertisement (which appears in this issue, page 4) does not give the interesting details that are promised in the circular.

Miss Eugenia Wallace, who spoke on secretarial work at the recent conference, is now associated with this school.

Engaged

Frances H. Fuller, '19, has announced her engagement to Mr. Lawrence Victor Smith, of Toledo, Ohio, Cornell, '18.

Fannie S. Barber, '09 has announced her engagement to Mr. Burton J. Berry, of Warwick, N. Y., and New York City, Harvard, '08. The wedding will take place in June.

HISTORY CLASS HOLDS DEBATES

Instead of a second quiz the class in United States history is holding three debates. As there are twelve in the class, two will debate on a side each time. The subjects are: "Free Trade," "The Cancellation of War Debts," and "The Problem of Tolls in the Panama Canal." The first debate was yesterday; the others will be tomorrow and next Tuesday.

NEW PLAN OF ORGANIZATION

Nearly 100 alumnae attended a luncheon in Philadelphia last Saturday at which the Philadelphia branch of the Alumnae Association was reorganized into the Bryn Mawr College Association of Eastern Pennsylvania. A $1400 scholarship will be raised by the Association to be offered to a Freshman entering in the fall of 1922.

Gertrude Ely, ex-'00, president of the Philadelphia branch, presided. Counsellor for the district, Mrs. Carroll Miller (Emma Guffey, '09), spoke on the council plan of organization which the Alumnae Association approved at the annual meeting in January. News of the Bryn Mawr faculty was given by Mrs. William Roy Smith (Marion Parris, '00).

Picture Contest Won by Rockefeller

Rockefeller Hall is the first to fulfill requirements, and with every member possessing one of the pastels of the college offered for sale by the Students' Building Committee, to win the prize of $50.

The pastels are by Hazel M. Montgomery, '12, who has contributed the proceeds from their sale to the students' building. Another $50 has been offered to the first class to come up to these requirements, but no class has yet succeeded in doing so.

LOWER TEAMS PLAY TENNIS MATCHES THIS WEEK*Seniors Compete With Freshmen

For the second time class teams are competing in tennis as in other major sports for points toward the all-round athletic champion. The class winning first-team tennis will hang its banner on the gymnasium.

Third, fourth, fifth and sixth teams, of five players each, are playing match games this week, 1921 competing with 1924, 1922 with 1923, in the first round. Upper teams will play the preliminaries May 2, 3, 4; first-team finals will be on May 11.

Tennis captains are: 1921, H. James; 1922, K. Gardner; 1923, R. Beardsley; 1924, J. Palmer.

WELLESLEY HAS LARGEST LIBRARY OF ANY WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Recent additions to the Wellesley College library have made it the largest library of any woman's college in the country, its shelves holding more than 100,000 volumes.

It contains the Plimpton collection of Italian books and manuscripts, presented by George Plimpton, of New York, in memory of his wife, Francis Parsons Plimpton, '84. It represents the Renaissance period in Italian literature, and includes the best collection of Savonarola pamphlets in the United States, a collection surpassed by only two or three in Europe. Some of the manuscripts have annotations in the handwriting of Petrarch. There are complete collections of the first editions of Tennyson and the Brownings, and the most complete collection of Ruskin editions in this country.

The library contains a small but unusual collection of German manuscripts of the time of the Reformation, to which period dates the Melancthon Bible, from which a psalm is read in Latin at every commencement.

Two famous charters are among the library's prizes in what are known as the "Treasure Rooms." One is the original charter given by the Emperor Otto III to a monastery in Rome, and the other is a charter granting mining rights in the dominions of Emperor Charles V and signed by that monarch.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON TO BE PREACHED BY DR. ALBERT FITCH

An upholder of intellectual candor and an assailant of the "narrow self-complacent college woman," Dr. Albert Parker Fitch will give the baccalaureate sermon in the gymnasium on Sunday, May 29.

Dr. Fitch is a teacher of ecclesiastical history at Amherst, and is ex-president of Andover Theological Seminary. The last four years Dr. Fitch has spoken at Bryn Mawr. In his talk last March he discussed the various phases of truth.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At the Science Club elections, last Thursday afternoon, M. Kennard, '21, was elected president, and M. Adams, '23, secretary. The treasurer will be elected later.

Tickets for Glee Club may be obtained from M. Morrison, Pembroke-East. Prices for seats are 75 cents unreserved, $1 reserved.

Eleven Bryn Mawr undergraduates ushered at Dr. Grenfell's lecture in the Academy of Music on Friday night. Among the lantern slides and moving pictures that Dr. Grenfell showed of his work in Labrador, were several pictures of Bryn Mawr graduates.

AMERICAN RED CROSS TO TRAIN WORKERS AT BRYN MAWR COLLEGE

The Carola Woerishoffer Department of Social Research, Bryn Mawr, will be used by the American Red Cross as one of its centers for training workers in community work, especially in rural districts. Scholarships of the value of $600, with loan privileges of $400, are offered. In return, scholars are expected to accept a position under the Red Cross for at least one year after completion of their academic work. The first year with the Red Cross carries a salary, and is planned to give the student continued preparation through field experience.

The course consists of two seminars of academic work at Bryn Mawr, and one laboratory seminary in community work, consisting of field work in rural districts. One-half day may be given for field work at the Community Center.

This year field work has been carried on by the students in Phoenixville and Coatesville. The location of Bryn Mawr provides opportunities for observation and experience in the congested areas of Philadelphia and in the rural areas ten or fifteen miles distant on the other side where population is scattered.

MR. FRAYNE SPEAKS ON AIMS AND PRINCIPLES OF ORGANIZED LABOR

"Organized Labor, its Principles and Activities," were discussed last Wednesday evening by Mr. Hugh Frayne, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, who spoke in Taylor Hall, under the auspices of the World Citizenship Committee.

Mr. Frayne described the organization of the American Federation of Labor, and then went on to speak of its aims in connection with present day methods of meeting labor problems. Open shop, he said, is no solution, for the shop tends to become one for unorganized labor. On the other hand "collective bargaining," between labor and employers, is a step in the right direction, and will lead to better understanding and conditions for labor.

You Have Written Poems!

Do you care to have them revised or constructively criticised by successful authors? If you do, then send us your manuscript (stories, articles or poems). We will criticise, and place them should they prove to be acceptable for publication.

There is no actual charge for our services. If, however, you have not previously enrolled with the advisory department of this association, we request that you enclose the initial fee of two dollars, which we must ask of each new contributor. There is no additional expense, no future obligation.

It must be realized that we can only be of aid to those of serious intent. If you do mean to strive for literary success, we can help you in many ways. Our services are yours until we have actually succeeded in marketing at least one of your manuscripts. Send something today!

Please enclose return postage with your communications.

Eleanor Collins, '21, has obtained a position to teach athletics and science at Miss Mill's School, Mount Airy, Germantown, next year. J. Peyton, '21, expects to teach at the Branson School, San Raphael, Calif., and L. Reinhart, '21, at Miss Hebb's School, Wilmington, Del. K. Ward, '21, will head the English department at Miss Ranson's School, Oakland, Calif.

Photographs of the Bryn Mawr track meet appeared last Sunday in the New York Herald.

Leaving for England this summer, Dr. Chew will spend his sabbatical leave of absence traveling in Europe. He will be in London from September to December, working in the British Museum. He will then leave for Greece, spending a couple of months in Italy on his way there. During the following summer Dr. Chew will travel in Italy, Switzerland and France.

WASHINGTON BRYN MAWR CLUB PLANS $1400 SCHOLARSHIP

The first local club to undertake raising a scholarship under the plan approved by the Alumnae Association this spring, the Washington Bryn Mawr Club at a meeting last Thursday appointed a committee to start raising the necessary endowment. The meeting of Washington alumnae was held at the house of Mrs. E. W. Sturdevant (Louise Cruice, '06). Miss Blaine, executive secretary of the Alumnae Association, spoke.

The scholarship, according to present plans, will be offered in the fall of 1922 to a Freshman, $500 the first year and $300 the three succeeding years, making a total of $1400. Preference will be given to a student from the District of Columbia.

Mendelssohn Club to Give Concert

The Mendelssohn Club, of Philadelphia, will give a concert in the Cloister Garden on Saturday, May 14, at 8:15 P. M., for the benefit of the Music Committee of the Undergraduate Association. Admission will be $1; reserved seats, $1.50. Tickets may be purchased from the office of the Recording Dean.

Mr. Charles W. Seah, tenor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia, will be the soloist, and there will be an unaccompanied mixed chorus of seventy-five voices. The program will include sacred and secular ancient and modern music, some Old English and modern Russian selections, and the prize composition of Miss Frances McCollin, sister of K. T. McCollin, A.B. Bryn Mawr, '16.

MISS FREEDMAN ELECTED TO ORGANIZE LABOR SCHOOL

Denbigh and Merion to be Used By Working Girls Next Summer

Plans for the labor school, which will be held at Bryn Mawr next summer, were discussed during the week-end with Dr. Henry Clay, Fellow at New College, Oxford, and instructor of the classes of the Workers' Educational Association in England.

It is expected that Mr. Clay, who has given classes in economics in Stoke-on-Trent, Leeds and Bradford, and who has been giving courses in economics at Amherst College for the last term, will be present at the summer school to assist with the work for at least part of the session, giving the school advice and suggestions drawn from his ten years' experience in connection with the workers' educational movement in England.

Miss E. Freedman has been elected vice-president of the Executive Committee and secretary of the school. She arrived at Bryn Mawr last Monday, and has taken up the organization of the school. Her office is in the social and economic department in the library.

Miss Freedman Former Y. W. C. A. Worker

A graduate of Smith College, Miss Freedman also studied economics and social questions at Columbia University. For nine years she was secretary of the industrial section of the Y. W. C. A., and worked during the war in the government munition plants in the war area. The meeting in Washington of the International Congress of Working Women was organized by Miss Freedman. Delegates from this meeting came to Bryn Mawr. Last year Miss Freedman went to the Orient to study education and economic conditions.

It has been decided to use Denbigh and Merion Halls for the summer school. Mrs. Walmer, housekeeper of Denbigh, will act as housekeeper. Denbigh dining-room and sitting-room will be used as dining rooms for all the students. The graduate room will be used as a sitting-room.

CHRISTIANITY A POWER TOWARD EXPANSION SAYS MR. SPEER

Persons are Best Civilizing Agencies

"The claim made by Christianity has been validated in social and in personal relationships," said Mr. Robert Elliott Speer, president of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, speaking in chapel last Sunday night. "The Christian religion has proved a door to an absolutely boundless life."

Geographically, intellectually, in religion and in education, Mr. Speer showed that Christianity has been a powerful force toward freedom and expansion. "All that is best in our religion," he said, "we draw from those in the last generation who worshiped the Christian God, and drew from their religion discipline, power and reverence. The next generation will be a poorer generation than ours because we are not passing on these things."

"Of the sexes, woman has far-and-away the most to give the world," said Mr. Speer in speaking of the educational and civilizing power of the religion of Jesus. "She never had a chance to give until Christianity came and set her free."

The faculty of seeing what is hidden from others is given to followers of Christ, according to Mr. Speer. "The mightiest civilizing agencies are persons," he said, quoting from Professor Fairbairn's lectures, "and the mightiest persons are Christian men and women. In Christianity ideals compel full fidelity from everyone before whom they shine."
